Word Structure is an international journal of linguistic morphology and all related disciplines. Its outlook is both synchronic and diachronic. Its interests are both empirical and theoretical. Its aim is to further the understanding of the nature of words, in every sense and in the broadest definition, in the languages of the world by applying to that concept the methodologies of disciplines such as morphology, syntax and phonology, of sociolinguistics and psycholinguistics, of formal, computational, cognitive and historical linguistics and of any other relevant sub-discipline of linguistics.

With the appearance of the first issue, the Editors now invite contributions to Word Structure's second and subsequent volumes. Authors should submit contributions to any one Editor. Potential contributors are welcome to contact the Editors for advice regarding submissions. The Word Structure style sheet may be found at <http://www.eupjournals.com/journal/word>
