

Special Number

Selected papers from the Word-Formation Theories III / Typology and Universals in Word-Formation IV conference

Table of Contents

Bernd Heine	2
On the grammaticalization of some processes of word formation in Africa
Susan Olsen	19
Interconnectedness and variation of meaning in derivational patterns
Makiko Mukai	35
Productivity of recursive compounds
Elizaveta Tarasova	49
Productivity of form and productivity of meaning in N+N compounds
Hans Götzsche	70
Compounds as idiom. A case study of a ‘meta-trend’
Pius ten Hacken	77
Relational adjectives between syntax and morphology
Lior Laks	93
Competing suffixes: feminine formation of Hebrew loanwords
Ora (Rodrigue) Schwarzwald	109
Linear and nonlinear word formation in Hebrew – words which end with -on
Ken Sasahara	121
Derivational suffixes -ar and -nik in Upper Sorbian
Michał Rzepiela	130
Word-formation type, its reinterpretations, and possible equivalents
Petr Kos	146
Metaphor and metonymy as a means of economy of expression
Richard Skultéty Madsen	162
Word-formation preferences of non-natives	