

SKASE Journal of Theoretical Linguistics
ISSN 1336-782X
VOLUME 20 - 2023 No. 1 – SPECIAL NUMBER
Selected papers from the Word-Formation Theories VI & Typology and Universals in Word-Formation V conference, held in Kosice, Slovakia, from 23 to 26 June 2022.

Table of Contents

Mark Aronoff
Terrify and Terrific	2
Olav Mueller-Reichau & Matthias Irmer
Knowledge-driven compound interpretation. A corpus study on German complex nouns headed by -stoff	16
Camiel Hamans
Non-morphemic word formation as an invitation to cognition. The role of recognition in word formation and language change	43
Mina Giannoula
Multiple preverbation: Stacking of preverbs	64
Kathryn Barnes
Subjectivity, perception and convention in ideophones and iconicity	89
Blanka Ferklová
Textual distribution of Korean onomatopoeias and ideophones and its specific features	113
Maruszka Eve-Marie Meinard
The Ground and the Archetype: two situations from which to describe the conversion and derivation of interjections	127